

A Tale of Two Titties

Logline: A mature woman, abandoned and betrayed, rediscovers her humanity and passion when faced with adversity and callous indifference on a raucous pub crawl in contemporary Liverpool.

---

Just imagine being left stranded with a dying man in your arms on a drunken night out. What would you do? Where would you turn? Just to make matters worse your husband and alleged friends have abandoned you!

Join our heroine as two groups of over 50's meet on a Sunday night out in contemporary Liverpool. Lives are changed irrevocably as their coming together erupts in fun, frolic, fear and ffffff.... Old scores are settled, school day romances rekindled, hearts broken, hope resurrected and death embraced.

A cautionary tale of a traditional Sunday night out turned sour providing an insight into mature adult life in contemporary Liverpool. A dysfunctional romantic drama liberally sprinkled with humour, angst and identifiable characters and the underlying theme of hope crushed by self-interest! Street locations and typical pubs provide the stage as a domestic drama or international showpiece. No special effects.

A quirky low budget contemporary gritty, romantic drama set in Liverpool illuminated by quirky engaging characters, suspense and subtle black humour.

To find out more just email info@pomdpom.com with your commercial credentials and the nature of your interest, who knows where this will lead.