

An iPad for Christmas

An iPad for Christmas

An iPad for Christmas a great gift for me
I can browse and create with simplicity
No lengthy boot or soft shoe shuffle
Ready for use without kafuffle

IPad poetry is good for me
I can write rhyming couplets and easily see
With iCloud I share each verse I write
No need to save and backup at night

Now one would think me an apple devotee
But I prefer to work using a DOS PC
The reason is simple and cannot be lost
It's that apple are outrageous when it comes to cost

Now Function and form are close to my heart
The ergonomics of tools a rare and fine art
Customer experience is the key
So remember it well and set the user free

A B&O system is an audio visual great
With stylish performance one to imitate
But it suffers the downside of Apple I swear
As its price is outrageous and certainly unfair

So try as I must to create with style and flair
The key is efficiency for any who dare
So design with use and audience in mind
And you create an icon the best of its kind

In modern life without time to spare
The best applications are functionally bare
They complete the job with simple action
Function and form the star attraction

So whatever you build remember ergonomics
To make it simple and fun like comics
A sleek application or tool to use
A lazy approach will earn good reviews
