

Logline: A hapless widower abandons everything to fulfil his wife's final wishes but is handicapped by her idiosyncratic will leading to a deadly yet whimsical voyage of discovery.

Just imagine your wife disappeared, apparently dead from a terminal illness, completely out of the blue and left you with the strangest of wills. Would you follow your heart, the will to the letter or would you be suspicious? Who would you turn to or trust? The family? Her or your friends?

Join confused and broken hearted Roger as he cruises the world in his bid to lay his late wife's fulsome spirit and legacy to rest. Bereft by her death, intolerant of legal and commercial interference, haunted by the past at every hapless step he sets aside career, life, son and daughter to fulfil her dying wishes only to find she was not the woman he thought he married.

A dark comedy drama with stunning yet accessible locations illuminated by quirky engaging characters, suspense and subtle black humour. A realistic opportunity for product placement and a global market.
