

Info@PomdPom.com

Trance Meeting

Logline: A personable therapist, accustomed to subtle malpractice to satisfy his desires is unsettled by a new client and her partner. He struggles to protect his secret in the face of hacking, trolling and arrest before finally accepting his fate.

Just imagine your girlfriend's stutter is really getting her down after years of trying to lose it and you're given a contact that will help. Wouldn't you want to try the therapy even if you were sceptical? Didn't trust the therapist?

In Trance Meeting Adam and Helen are introduced to Chad, a hypno-therapist with a fabulous reputation and record of success. The sessions begin and sure enough Helens' stutter improves and Chad even helps Adam stop smoking. But Adam isn't happy and when Chad is suddenly accused of being an internet troll and groomer he feels he must act.

A provocative, challenging, two (consulting and waiting) room contemporary psychological drama that explores the human condition.

To find out more just email info@pomdpom.com with your commercial credentials and the nature of your interest, who knows where this will lead.

